SUEZ

A success story in New Jersey

Having originated U.S. operations in 1869 as the Hackensack Water Company, SUEZ today provides water and wastewater services to over 1 million New Jersey residents and employs nearly 1,000 people throughout the state.

With a strong commitment to providing customers with safe, reliable water service, the company has recently replaced miles of pipeline, upgraded treatment and distribution facilities and made investments in digital initiatives, amounting to nearly $300 million in New Jersey alone.

The digital transformation includes a robust customer web experience with innovative tools, an advanced metering system that significantly decreases time in detecting customer leaks, a workforce management program that increases the efficiency of field service operations, and the deployment of digital sensors that provide real-time water quality readings.

The strong investments in traditional and digital infrastructure will enhance the connection that customers have with operations and improve workforce productivity.
